

Abstract of the Disclosure.

This method of detecting aircraft is by the missing cosmic background radiation that they block out.

This radiation is normally spread across the entire sky; except when something blocks it out such as a aircraft flying in front of it.

It works like a radar but it does not send out a signal.